CORE State Statistics

Summaries & Stories

CORE provides financial grants to food & beverage service employees with children who are faced with a life-altering health crisis or natural disaster in all 50 states, D.C., and Puerto Rico.

This document includes statements from CORE grantees where they have given written permission for CORE to share their story, following HIPAA guidelines.

If you are interested in sharing any of the stories publicly, please contact CORE before doing so.

Grantee Story: Shannon

Shannon is a server at a casual dining restaurant. Her son has a traumatic brain injury and other mental disorders that require expensive medications. Because of this, Shannon was evicted and they were living in her car. CORE was able to help Shannon and her son receive temporary housing while they look for a permanent place to live.

"My son and I are able to sleep in a bed instead of our car. He is able to get his meds that I could not afford. He did not have anything but a pair of sandals and clothes on his back when I got him. It's getting cold and now I can buy him some tennis shoes and a jacket. Most importantly I will be able to keep my son with me and not with the state. Because of CORE I have renewed faith in this world and hope that all is going to work out for us! I'm so thankful!"
